

Facilitating Change in Business Consulting

During the consulting process, it can be challenging to work with groups toward mutually acceptable decisions.

- ❖ How consultants could work creatively and effectively to bring out the best of a group's thinking?
- ❖ How do we support the client at every step in the process, enriching the group's experience while efficiently gathering input and data necessary to fulfill the project's objectives?
- ❖ In order to achieve these, facilitation skills are required in planning meetings such as, Problem-Solving, Team Alignment, Strategic Planning, Creative Brainstorming Sessions, Project Planning and Customer Meetings.
